Here is data like that which I have been seeking, and not getting, relative to Napa County social services, and specifically children.

As I have said to staff and to the consultant, I find it helpful to know current conditions as context for thinking about the future.

And I find it helpful to have facts as well as the opinions which you are gathering in all the group meetings.

It is interesting, and disturbing, that the only facts I have received from the county about children accompanied my real estate tax bill: to wit...

"In 2017, there were 1,479 reports of abuse/neglect to Napa County Child Welfare Services. Research...translates to over 4,000 annually in our community..." (From insert seeking funds for COPE).
